Man with violent past is jailed for attack on pensioner

A MAN who robbed and injured a pensioner in her home after gaining her trust has been jailed for three years.

Unemployed Michael Mulroy, 44, of Vincent Road, South Tottenham, was sentenced at Wood Green Crown Court after being found guilty of robbery.

The court heard that Mulroy gained the trust of a 67-year-old woman undergoing chemotherapy treatment by carrying out gardening jobs for cash. He subsequently abused that trust by demanding money from her and pushing her to the ground as he robbed her of her purse in her own home.

Mulroy first approached the woman outside her home, in Bounds Green, New Southgate, last October and offered to trim a hedge in her garden, for which she paid him £10. He returned late one night at the end of January saying his daughter was in hospital and he needed money for a taxi to see her. The victim gave him £13.

Two days later, Mulroy appeared at her house with scaffolding boards, which he said he had bought to build a flower bed in her garden. The woman told him she was tired from her chemotherapy and asked him to come back the next day.

However, Mulroy followed her to the house, demanded money and became aggressive, later snatching her purse and pushing her over, causing her to hit her head on the scaffolding boards.

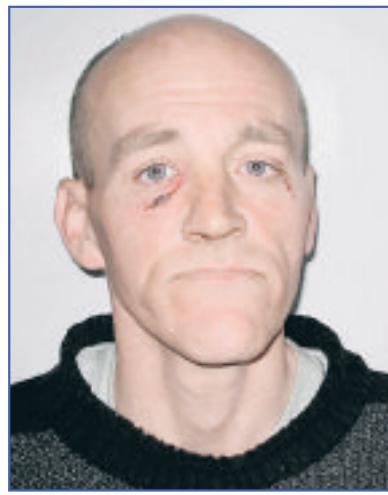

She needed hospital treatment. Mulroy was traced through a mobile number he had left the woman and arrested.

His guilty plea for theft was not accepted and he was committed for trial for robbery.

While Mulroy refused to give evidence, the victim did appear and the jury took just over an hour to convict him. On sentencing, the court heard Mulroy had previous convictions for violent offences, including a nine-year sentence for attempted murder.

After sentencing, the victim said: "I am very pleased with the efficiency of the police in rounding up this man from the streets and the successful outcome of the case and I hope this encourages others to cooperate with police investigations.

"All citizens need to feel secure and able to participate in their community."

Jailed: Michael Mulroy was given three years for his attack on a 67-year-old

Teams wanted for football competition

HARINGEY Young People Empowered (HYPE) is to stage its fifth annual Unity Cup football tournament next month.

It is taking place at New River Sports Complex, in Perth Road, Wood Green, on Saturday September 1 from 9am to 4pm.

The competition aims to bridge the gap between young people from rival parts of the borough through football. The tournament will be supported by volunteers from the Metropolitan Police in the hope of developing police-community relations.

Players must be aged 13 to 19 and can register by emailing hype_youth@hotmail.co.uk or by calling 07506 342547.

For more information, you can follow on Twitter @h_ype or search for 'HYPE GANG' on Facebook.

Roof scam warning

PEOPLE are being warned of a scam in which builders say they must gain access because there is a water leak in the roof.

It is believed the suspects lifted tiles and poured water through to show an 84-year-old resident in the Fortis Green water pouring down an internal wall and scare her into believing that urgent work was needed.

They demanded a deposit of £4,600 cash to install drying machinery. The woman was so alarmed that she went straight out to get the cash after they refused a cheque.

The suspects have been linked to a similar incident in Barnet. Both are white men, one aged in his 50s and the other in his 30s. It is believed they drive a small white box panel van with a ladder on the roof.

Anyone with information on the scam or those behind it are asked to call Detective Constable Jo Ravelhill, of Haringey CID, on 020 8345 0838, or Crimestoppers, anonymously, on 0800 555 111.

BATTLE LINES DRAWN OVER WARDS CORNER

A CAMPAIGN group has launched a legal challenge over Haringey Council's approval of Grainger Plc's plan for Wards Corner in Seven Sisters.

Through its solicitors, the Wards Corner Community Coalition has sent a "Letter Before Claim" to the authority stating that its July 2012 decision to grant planning permission and consent to demolish was unlawful and could not withstand judicial review.

The challenge claims the council has failed to comply with its statutory duties and is the second time the group has brought a legal challenge over the matter.

In 2010 the Court of Appeal found that the council had approved Grainger's application without assessing the scheme's impact on equalities in the area. WCC claimed the plan would uproot dozens of long-standing Tottenham residents and businesses and have a drastic impact on the hugely ethnically diverse population. James Skinner from the group said: "This is not just about Wards Corner. Our last challenge set a precedent ensuring that the equality impact of all major developments have to be assessed. That process should have been common sense but it had to be fought for."

Local resident and WCC member Candy Amsden said the group had been forced to act due to the "unresponsiveness" of the developers and the council.

"We have been trying to collaborate with the council and with Grainger, but they are intent on pushing through this disastrous proposal," she said. "If we want to build upon our unique, independent, business-led town centre here in Tottenham, we have no choice but to oppose Grainger's current proposals, whatever the financial strain, until the right plan is developed for the site."

WCC has submitted its own plans for the site and has called on the council to reconsider its decision.

Grainger was originally granted planning permission in November 2008 to demolish Wards Corner in order to build 197 flats and new retail space and, following the intervention of Mayor of London Boris Johnson, a new market hall.

This permission was quashed by the High Court of Appeal in 2010.

The developers' resubmitted plan was refused by the council in July 2011 and a public inquiry is scheduled for October this year. However, an amended application was submitted this July with permission being voted through five to four.

The council is sticking by that decision with leader Claire Kober saying: "The council has supported Grainger's plans for Seven Sisters because we are confident that they offer the very best chance of delivering the lasting regeneration that this area so desperately needs – with new homes, jobs, environmental improvements, a broader mix of shops and a revamped market where existing stallholders will be supported to help their businesses thrive."

"Approval follows more than seven years of planning and consultation, including with local residents, traders and the Wards Corner Coalition. Many residents share our ambition for Seven Sisters, an area which is key to our overall plans to improve Tottenham for everyone."

"The planning committee imposed conditions which will further help to support existing stallholders by offering them priority over pitches in the revamped market, help relocating while building works are carried out and discounted rents to help their businesses to flourish. We're very disappointed that the regeneration of Seven Sisters could be further delayed by legal challenge."

WCC said that if the council stands by its decision, an application to seek judicial review will be filed in the High Court.

Council hits back in row over budget to fell trees

By Mary McConnell

COUNCIL chiefs have denied cutting back on vital bridge repairs in order to fund a tree-felling programme in Bush Hill Park.

Conservative opposition councillors said that the Labour administration would be better off reducing spending on "pet projects" if trees in Bush Hill Park required felling.

They said that Enfield Island Bridge was in need of maintenance work and they have decided to call in the decision for extra debate by the council's overview and scrutiny committee.

But, according to Labour councillors, the Enfield Island Bridge does not need to be repaired.

Last week the Advertiser reported that the council was bringing its tree-felling programme forward after some trees were discovered to be in a dangerous state of decay in Bush Hill Park.

Terry Neville, the Conservative spokesman for environment, said: "At a time when the Enfield Island Bridge is already known to be in need of work, it is the height of irresponsibility to take funds that have been specifically provided for its maintenance to carry out this tree work.

"This tree work is necessary but it needs to be properly

Stormy waters: Councillors disagree over the need for repair work to be carried out at Enfield Island Bridge funded from the council's contingency if necessary."

However, Chris Bond, cabinet member for the environment, said the bridge repair budget was not being cut and there was enough money in the council's capital programme for the tree-felling programme as well as for required bridge repairs.

"In recent years we allocated £450,000 per annum on maintenance works to bridges, structures and watercourses as part of our capital programme," he added.

"Any future maintenance work required to Enfield Island Bridge will be funded either from the remaining reserve held for this bridge or from the council's capital programme.

"The bridge is inspected every two years and is still in very good condition. We will continue to inspect and maintain trees, bridges and structures throughout the borough. Safety is paramount."

Town show set for a cracking start from arts festival

THIS year's annual Enfield Town Autumn Show is the next event in the annual Enfield Festival – and the celebrations kick off on Friday August 31 with an outdoor arts festival, Showtime, at 4pm on Enfield Town's library green in Church Street.

The event is part of Boris Johnson's London 2012 Festival and will include performances by Bestival's brass-funk ensemble Brassroots and Signdance, a group made up of blind and deaf artists.

The free show will culminate in pyrotechnics delivered by Glastonbury's Lords of Lightening, who will pass four million volts of electricity through the air as the London-wide festival makes its Enfield stop.

The annual show, which takes place at Enfield Town Park in Cecil Road on September 1 and 2, will include the popular alfresco ballroom, fairground games and rides, food stalls and a horticultural marquee, as well as live music from Neville Staple, of The Specials, festival alt-folk favourites Ursusen and Hackney underground troubadours Bard.

Cerebro, Edmonton's own all-male street dance group, will entertain, along with tribute acts Maybe Winehouse and Maybe Gaga.

Enfield's Everybody Active Team will be giving demonstrations and taster sessions at its Sports Showcase, including zumba, tai chi and a mini-Olympics – and you can find out more about sports and healthy living in Enfield at the Everybody Active Sports tent.

Entry to the show costs £3 for adults/£2 concessions. Children and young people aged 16 and under go free.

A-level success puts star students one step closer to dream careers

By Ruth McKee

A TEENAGER who fled the war in Afghanistan with his family ten years ago is one step closer to achieving his dream of becoming a doctor after acing his A-levels.

Salman Momin, 18, lived alone in Palmers Green during his final year at Winchmore School after his family moved to Cricklewood, in north-west London. But despite working part-time to make ends meet and living off baked beans for a year, the teenager landed a place at King's College to study medicine after getting an A and two Bs in psychology, biology and chemistry respectively.

"I was studying for ten hours a day," Salman told the Advertiser. "My parents will be proud. I just hope I can keep going for the six years of the degree."

Salman, who is currently working on a novel based on his experiences of his home country, returned to Afghanistan earlier this year to carry out work experience in a Kabul hospital where he witnessed at first hand the toll the conflict has taken on the country.

"If I was still in Afghanistan, I just wouldn't have the opportunities that I do here," he said. "I couldn't be a doctor if I was still over there. There are just so many more opportunities for me here in this country."

Joining Salman at King's is Sinem Ozer, from Tottenham, who rushed into school at the crack of dawn to learn that she had made her top choice university with three Bs in chemistry, biology and maths.

She said: "I practically lived in the library this past year. I really wanted to study medicine because I think the human body is just amazing."

One of the other stellar performers at the school this year was Damon Wilson, who, with three A*s in maths, further maths and physics, will be taking up a place at the London School of Economics next month to study maths and economics. He said: "I was confident with the maths result because I am confident with that subject and I enjoy it. With the physics, I worked really, really hard."

Stephen Wilkins, head of sixth form at the school in Laburnum Grove, admitted the recent changes to university tuition fees had alarmed some students. He told the Advertiser: "We have worked very hard with the students to advise them on the whole process."

According to Mr Wilkins, out of 110 Year 13 pupils at the school, 90 had applied for university places, showing that many had not been put off by the fees hike.

'We'll never give him away again' – loyal Bruno comes back home just in time to save his family from fire

By Mary McConnell

A DOG who saved a family from a fire was nearly handed over to a new owner just days before a night-time blaze tore through their home.

When a plug-in air freshener caught fire in the home of Sonu Singh and his two daughters Aleesha, eight, and Manjot, five, their beloved dog Bruno was there to save the day.

In the early hours of last Monday the two-and-a-half-year-old Rottweiler/ Doberman cross sniffed out the fire, which had started in an empty bedroom of the family's home in Allens Road, Ponders End.

He then opened Mr Singh's bedroom door, pulled off his blanket and began barking furiously.

Mr Singh, a 29-year-old supermarket employee, knew something was wrong and went to investigate.

His partner Manjeet Kaur, 29, who was not in the house at the time, told the Advertiser: "Bruno was outside the spare bedroom whining."

"Sonu opened the door and when he saw the fire he rushed to get our two daughters up and took them outside."

No one suffered any injuries in the blaze.

Mrs Kaur says that if Bruno had not woken her partner up, two of their three daughters – youngest Jasmeet was not in the house at the time – would have perished in the fire.

But only days before the blaze, Bruno had been given to a couple in Kent because Mrs Kaur did not have the time to look after him. However, her daughters were left distraught and refused to eat until their much-loved pet was returned.

"We had to get Bruno back – the kids were too upset," said Mrs Kaur.

"I am so glad we did, I can never thank him enough. I can't get over the shock of what happened. I owe everything to him and we are never going to give him away again."

It is thought the fire started because fabric had covered the air freshener.

A London Fire Brigade spokeswoman said: "When using plug-in air fresheners, it is important to ensure they remain upright and are never covered.

"Covering a plug-in can result in overheating, which can be dangerous and cause fires, as we've seen here."

A YOUNG man from Winchmore Hill has been killed in a fire which swept through a Thai nightclub, local police confirmed yesterday.

Michael Tzouvanni, of Branscombe Gardens, was on holiday on the island of Phuket with two friends when the blaze broke out in the Tiger Disco in the early hours of Friday.

Thai police said that four people had died in the fire, the others being two Thai women and a Frenchman.

A further 20 were injured by the blaze at the club in the popular district of Patong.

Mr Tzouvanni's brother, Joseph, flew out to Thailand on Sunday after Michael was reported missing in the hope that his brother might still be found alive – but yesterday Thai police confirmed that the 24-year-old had perished.

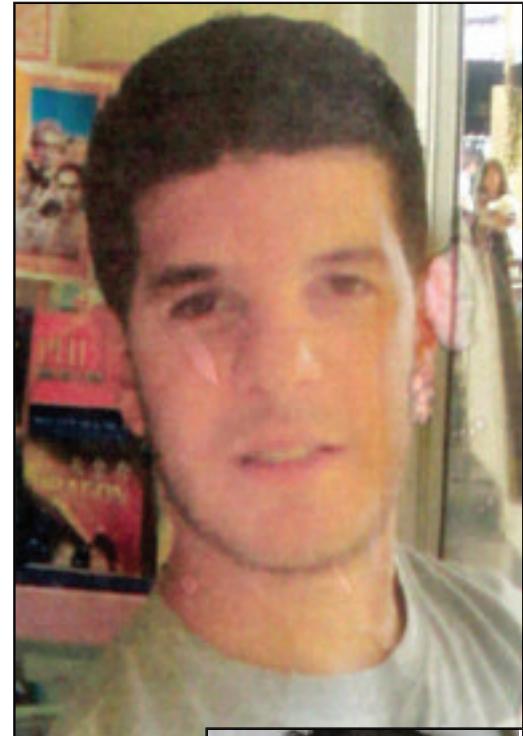

He is believed to have died from smoke inhalation.

On the night of the fire, Michael, a graduate from the University of Northumbria, is reported to have called a friend to tell him the flames had trapped him in the nightclub, saying: "I am in the fire, there is no way out. I love you."

Speaking at a press conference earlier in the week, Joseph said that his brother's possessions were still in his hotel room and he appealed for anyone with information to contact the British embassy.

A Foreign Office spokesman said: "We are aware of the death of a British national of the name of Michael Tzouvanni and we are providing consular assistance to his family at this sad time."

His family said they were too upset to comment at this time.

Numbers double as waiting lists in casualty lengthen

By Mary McConnell

THE number of people waiting more than four hours for a hospital bed once they have been admitted to A&E at Chase Farm and Barnet hospitals has more than doubled in the past year.

According to government figures, in the first six months of the past year, 492 patients at Chase Farm and Barnet had to wait between four and 12 hours before they were transferred to a ward in the hospital after being admitted to the accident and emergency department.

The number increased to 1,092 during the first six months of this year.

At North Middlesex University Hospital, in Silver Street, Edmonton, 761 A&E patients had to wait between four and 12 hours to be admitted to another ward in the first half of 2011.

This year, the figure was 1,052.

The statistics will worry health campaigners who are battling to save services at Chase Farm Hospital, in The Ridgeway, Enfield, which is due to lose its 24-hour consultant-led accident and emergency department in September 2013.

Emergency patients are to be sent to Barnet or the North Mid instead.

Critics say that other hospitals, which are already stretched, will not cope with any additional patients.

Ivy Beard, from the Save Chase Farm group, said: "Looking at these figures, it doesn't make any sense to reduce services at Chase Farm."

"I am just gobsmacked that they are carrying on with the plans to downgrade the A&E."

"These figures show they are hardly coping with the services they have got at the moment. If Chase Farm goes, then the waiting lists will get even longer."

"We were told that primary care would be improved in Enfield before changes are made to Chase Farm. I don't see any signs of that happening at the moment."

A Chase Farm spokeswoman said: "To address this problem, as well as opening additional bed capacity throughout the winter period, we have been working hard to improve processes throughout the patient journey."

"This has helped further maximise existing bed capacity and improve our patients' experience."

A spokeswoman from the North Mid added: "What these figures do not show is the fact that A&E met all its national targets in 2011/12, which clearly dispels any suggestions that the department is dangerously overstretched."

"We will invest in the region of 400 additional members of clinical staff in order to implement the service changes at Chase Farm."

Community horrified at plan for homes on treasured sport fields

By Mary McConnell

CAMPAIGNERS are fighting proposals which will see new homes built on one of the only sports fields available in Upper Edmonton.

The Bull Lane playing fields are owned by Haringey Council – but because the 11-acre plot is within the boundaries of Enfield, planning permission must be sought from Enfield Council.

Two groups – the Weir Hall Action Group and Community Action Sport – have opposed the plans and say the grounds should be developed into proper football and cricket pitches for use by the local community.

Malcolm Springthorpe, secretary of Community Action Sport, said: "This ground is in one of the most deprived areas in the country and there are no other fields in the area. If that ground is sold off, then no ground in the country is safe."

"We would like to turn it into a quality ground for use by the community. We have already raised more than the £700,000 needed to buy the ground and once we have ownership we believe we could quickly raise the additional £1.2million that would go to developing the grounds into proper playing fields.

"The problem is Haringey could get a lot more money if it sold it off to property developers. It says it is planning to sell only part of it, but that would not leave enough for it to be a proper sports ground."

Planning permission to build on the land was originally granted in 2003 – but this has now expired and a new planning application for the site needs to be lodged with Enfield Council.

Mr Springthorpe says he hopes the authority will consider buying the land from Haringey and developing it as a sports grounds itself.

Andrew Stafford, Enfield's cabinet member for finance and property, said he is due to meet Haringey councillors on September 7 to discuss the future of the land.

Haringey Council leader Claire Kober said that there are plans to develop part of the land as a community sports ground and added: "The site as it stands has no facilities or parking and is of limited use to the wider community, whereas our proposals would bring an enhanced community facility which would be of benefit to many hundreds of local people."

Stadium plans to get the public marching to an Olympic tune

PLANS are being made to open the Queen Elizabeth Stadium to the public during the Paralympic Games beginning next week.

The stadium in Donkey Lane, the home of Enfield Town FC since November, was open throughout the London 2012 Olympics to keen athletes who wanted to train.

The Friends of Enfield Playing Fields have been hosting a series of events during the summer, including a series of walking races which saw more than 80 people from all over the world take part in a friendly competition.

The one-mile race was won by German teenager Dominick Jordon, 14.

That was followed by three-mile and five-mile walking races around the 400m track and the paths in the surrounding playing fields.

John Taylor, from Loughton, Essex, won the three-mile walk in a time of 30 minutes and 17 seconds.

He said he was "overjoyed" to have won and added: "We've had people from all over the world, from Australia, Brazil and Austria, taking part."

Francisco Reis, from Southgate, won the five-mile race, finishing in 39 minutes.

Enfield mayor Kate Anoule was excited to be part of the experience. She said: "It's absolutely fantastic to have the Games in London bringing people together in a friendly environment. It is inspirational and it should encourage the government to put more money into sports."

John Hall, from the Friends group, said the open sessions had been a success and were continuing every Saturday and Sunday from 9.30am to noon.

He said: "People are invited to train at the stadium making use of the track, jumps and training hurdles. Those under 18 are asked to bring their own coach or an adult with them."

For more information about the stadium's opening during the Paralympics, call 020 8292 3627.

Hospice's vision of a day centre in Enfield finally becomes reality

By Kim Inam

A NEW day centre has opened in Winchmore Hill to care for patients with terminal illnesses in the community.

Five years after it was first planned, the North London Hospice, which until now had had only an inpatient base in Finchley, is now able to offer day services to patients from a site in Enfield.

The centre in Barwell Green is open only one day a week at the moment, but by the end of the year the charity hopes to be providing drop-in services and therapy sessions three days a week.

The building includes treatment rooms and counselling services, and complementary therapies are expected to be available in the near future.

Eleni Robb, who lives in Edmonton, enjoyed the first art therapy and relaxation sessions at the centre last Thursday.

The 76-year-old said: "The new centre is going to make a huge difference to my life, as I will be able to receive day care closer to home."

"I love art, so I'm really looking forward to being able to take part in sessions and learn new things. It's an opportunity for me to be more independent and meet people in a similar situation to me."

At present the centre is only open to current patients known to the charity's palliative care teams in Enfield, Barnet and Haringey. A spokeswoman for the charity said more fundraising would be needed to open up the centre five days a week and expand the service to more patients..

Douglas Bennett, chief executive of the hospice, which cares for around 1,350 patients a year in the community and at the inpatient centre,said: "It has been a particularly busy and exciting time for the hospice. This fantastic, new facility will maximise the opportunities for enjoyment and life enrichment for patients and their families.

"It will allow us to be in an even better position to ensure people can stay independent and at home for as long as possible by providing high-quality day services to even more patients and their families."

The ADVERTISER COMMENT

Playing fields must be saved for sport

IT is essential that Bull Lane playing fields are saved for the community. This piece of land is one of the last remaining green spaces in one of the most deprived areas in the country.

Following the Olympics, politicians have been falling over themselves to say playing fields should be made available for youngsters and that Britain should build on the success enjoyed by Team GB athletes at 2012.

Well here is an opportunity for them to put their money where their mouths are. Enfield councillors have the chance to say no to the development of these fields – instead they need to find the funding to invest and bring the fields up to scratch so youngsters can really make the most of them.

Athletes from Enfield brought home six Olympic gold medals at the Games and yet none of those athletes came from Edmonton. Is it any surprise when one of the very last playing fields available to the youngsters of N18 is being left to go ruin while developers rub their hands with glee?

Empty promises

AGAIN campaigners against the closure of Chase Farm's A&E department will vindicated that their proposals are more logical than health bosses' plans.

The latest government figures show a rise in the number of patients waiting longer than four hours before being given a bed at the borough's two hospitals. How health chiefs think this number is going to decrease when there are fewer emergency departments serving the residents of Enfield, Barnet and Haringey nobody can fathom.

Promises of improved primary care are still to materialise, especially as the new commissioning body of GPs for Enfield is yet to come into its own, but still the clinical strategy plans show no sign of being scrapped. What will it take for the government to see sense?

Traditional pubs being forced out of business

THREE pubs within no more than a mile of each other in Southgate, Palmers Green and Winchmore Hill have closed.

The White Hart, in Chase Road, Southgate, ceased trading about ten months ago. The Willow, in Winchmore Hill Road, closed down a month ago and The Woodman, in Bourne Hill, is the latest casualty, just four days after the Olympic torch passed its doors.

Tenanted public houses are failing as a direct result of the greed of brewers and pub companies.

Tenants are tied to buying draught beer, cider, all bottles of wine, spirits and minerals from their respective landlords at grossly inflated prices.

If you are fortunate enough to own the freehold of a pub, bar or sports club, which is free of tie, a pub company will offer massive discounts as an incentive to buy their beer etc.

For example, as a free trader you can buy 11 gallons of lager for £95, as a tenant you will have to pay nearly £200 for the same barrel.

As a tenant you have to pay rent. As a rule of thumb your rent is approximately ten to 12 per cent of turnover. But as pubs struggle and takings reduce, your rent doesn't.

In fact, it increases, forcing your local, which may look to be busy, slowly but surely out of business.

If you contact your business development manager trying to

Closed: The Woodman shut its doors at the end of last month negotiate more reasonable prices, you are told that it is bad management on your part. How far from the truth that is.

Many years ago my family owned the business at the Salisbury Arms in Winchmore Hill.

At that time new rent was negotiated every three years and an acceptable figure was agreed by both parties. The brewers were fair in what they charged for their products, so in turn an affordable price was charged to your customers. Everyone was happy.

How many more public houses need to close in the UK before the government steps in to regulate the prices that are charged to tenants by the pub companies and brewers?

A massive part of our heritage will disappear in a matter of a few years if the government doesn't look at the sale of alcohol as a whole.

Some say that adding tax to the price of alcohol sold in a pub will help curb binge drinking. This is not the case as most binge drinkers will start at home.

After drinking copious amounts of cheap alcohol bought from supermarkets, they head out to pubs and clubs. At times this ends up with antisocial behaviour and the blame is put on the licensee.

As a publican, part of your job is to gauge the amount of alcohol being consumed by the public and not serve anyone who appears to be drunk. Unfortunately, these days most are pretty intoxicated when they get to your pub.

It is not rocket science. By regulating the price of alcohol in shops and supermarkets, coupled with capping the prices charged by pub companies to tenants, enables them to be more competitive.

The price of drinks would be reduced, bringing a tenanted house in line with the pub companies' own managed houses and encouraging the return of customers, which in turn would directly kick-start the survival of the great British pub.

Get out of your car!

SCHOOLS near the North Circular Road are suffering excessive levels of nitrogen dioxide (NO2), a pollutant associated with adverse effects on human health.

Research by Kings College London shows that levels of NO2 at Bowes and Derby Road primary schools have exceeded UK and European targets this year.

Since NO2 is mostly due to road traffic, the high levels at two schools next to the North Circular will surprise no one. The necessary remedy is fewer and less polluting road vehicles.

To achieve this we must get out of our cars. Walking, cycling and using public transport are better for the environment, public health and your health.

We need 20mph streets, equal rights for pedestrians, drivers and riders to get to their destinations safely and on time and much cheaper public transport.

Shape up at festival

THE Palmers Green Community Festival is pleased to be working with the Community Games, a national programme aiming to use the Olympic and Paralympic Games to inspire communities across the country to make the year even more memorable.

After the success of the best-ever Olympic Games, we are delighted to welcome as part of this initiative a wide range of activities including climbing walls, tennis, football, rugby, outdoor keep fit, salsa and various forms of dance,

They will take place on the afternoon of Sunday September 2 in Broomfield Park, Palmers Green.

So as well as joining our community party, and whatever your age, you can also get active – perhaps even taking the first sporting step towards becoming a future Olympian.

Thank you to kind strangers

ON JULY 12, I suffered a blackout because of glucose deficiency and knew nothing until I found myself in an ambulance on the way to A&E at Chase Farm Hospital.

Apparently, I fell on a paving stone near the war memorial and suffered a facial injury and loss of blood. The ambulance called at my address, collected my shocked wife and continued to the hospital.

Who were the people who found me on Chase Green? I don't know, but my wife and I want to thank them for their prompt actions, likewise the paramedics, medical and nursing staff at A&E and Napier ward for their kind and expert attention.

Religious issues

I AM afraid Howard Medwell is somewhat confused in presenting such a rosy picture of religion setting examples of "community cohesion" (Advertiser, August 1).

Has he never heard of the religious conflict in Northern Ireland which sets Christian against Christian, the schism between Sunni and Shia which sets Muslim against Muslim, in large part responsible for the Iraq/Iran war and which led to the deaths of more than a million poor souls, or the conflict between Muslims and Hindus during the partition of India that saw more than a million killed because of religious differences?

Use QE stadium

I AM so pleased Enfield's Labour Council has followed my advice and finally created public opening times at the Queen Elizabeth Stadium with help from residents.

It has only been eight months in the waiting. As we have waited so long for the privilege, I ask residents and children to take inspiration from our Olympic athletes and use the stadium as it was intended.

I'm still waiting to get my property back from police, says raid victim

By Mary McConnell

A MAN who says he had property taken unlawfully by police officers four years ago is still waiting for it to be returned and for compensation.

John Allen, 60, of Barnard Road, Enfield, says the officers seized two bikes and DIY tools and damaged his front door as well as a safe during a raid in August 2008.

According to Mr Allen, he was a victim of the Enfield Crime Squad, which was the subject of a four-year corruption investigation.

Last month, a final four members of the squad were convicted of mishandling seized property – bringing to nine the number of officers found guilty of misconduct over a series of incidents in June 2008. The squad has since been disbanded.

Mr Allen was accused of carrying a noxious gas and a hammer in public. He says he was in his front garden when he was holding the items and the bikes were taken because the officers suspected they had been stolen.

According to Mr Allen, when the case fell through in 2009, he was told by the Metropolitan Police that the property which had been seized would be returned. However, he has not heard anything from the Met since last year.

"It was about seven officers," said

Charity walkers hotfoot it for hospice

By Indiah Miller

DAREDEVILS are being urged to set a blistering pace for charity.

People of all ages – providing they are at least 16 – are being encouraged to take part in the second annual fire walk to raise funds for the Noah's Ark Children's Hospice – and the aim is to surpass last year's total of £7,000.

The thought of walking on hot coals may be a daunting prospect for some, but all who accept the challenge are promised that it will be completely safe.

They are briefed beforehand by an expert. Individual giving and challenge manager Chris Harbour said: "Nobody gets hurt – it's a challenge, but it's purely mind over matter."

The hospice, based in Barnet, offers support to families living in the boroughs of Enfield, Barnet, Camden, Haringey and Islington and focuses on providing practical help and support to life-limited and life-threatened children, their siblings and families.

There are an estimated 900 life-limited and life-threatened children or young people living within the hospice's catchment area.

Lesley Galea, who took part last year, said: "When it was my turn, I shouted out my name and walked briskly over the burning fire.

"I felt invigorated and looking back I enjoyed the experience and was overwhelmed with the generosity of friends and family who sponsored me.

"I would definitely recommend this. I felt very proud of myself – a great sense of achievement – and would have no hesitation in competing again."

The hospice holds a number of fundraisers throughout the year – including marathons, trekking and climbing Mount Kilimanjaro – as the charity receives very little funding from the NHS and relies heavily on donations and money raised from events.

The minimum age for entering the fire walk is 16 and there is no upper limit. There is a minimum sponsorship target of £150 and a registration fee of £20, which all goes to the charity.

The fire walk will take place outside the Crown and Horseshoes pub, in Horseshoe Lane, Enfield Town, on September 9 and a simple registration form needs to be completed in order to join in. Call Chris on 020 8449 8877 for more information.

A view from Westminster

Silent majority have left the most lasting legacy

If you're like me, you were addicted to the Olympics during the two glorious weeks of the London 2012 Games.

This column does not provide me with enough space to do justice to what a wonderful achievement the Games have been for London and Britain, so instead I will touch on the Olympic legacy.

Of course, there is the superb sporting infrastructure we will enjoy for generations, and a newly inspired generation of young people to use them.

But there's more. I'm told that foreign diplomats, dignitaries and people from across the sporting world have been incredibly impressed with two things above all else.

Aside from the excellent organisation, the support of the host nation's public and first-class facilities (which are expected at all Olympics), what has struck our guests from abroad is the cultural events around the Games, and the number of volunteers – the Games Makers – who have come forward to help.

The first have made these Olympics a celebration of the Games and the values they represent. The second have shown the world more than anything what a generous, optimistic and fun-loving people we Brits are.

Making the Games – Olympic volunteers turned out in their thousands

In these difficult economic times, there is a lot of comment about the "something for nothing" society – the minority of people who are content to take without giving back.

And yet the Games Makers – in their thousands – represent the silent majority who are prepared to give something and receive nothing in return.

For me, the demonstration of this kind of virtue will leave a legacy more important and longer-lasting than the infrastructure. If you were a Games Maker during the Olympics, you deserve a medal.

If Boris wants to play politics with free travel, then that's fine by me

SO what is London mayor Boris Johnson really up to? Voted more popular than Prime Minister David Cameron in a post-Olympics poll, speculation is rife that in telling the PM to stop pussyfooting around about the state of the economy, he is preparing the ground to lead the Tories.

Well, we can add some fuel to that speculation, because Bojo – as he is dubbed by The Sun – is planning to challenge head-on all those advocating cutting the cost of pensioner benefits.

He is going to restore free transport in London to everyone at age 60.

In doing so he is defying Mr Cameron and, indeed, all the party political leaders, who favour linking the Freedom Pass to the steady increase in the state pension age for both men and women, which could be 67 or even 68 come 2026.

The retirement age of 60 for women has been rising by a month every two months since April 2010. Two years on, you now have to be 61 to get a Freedom Pass.

Somebody born in 1954, reaching 60 in 2014, would have to wait until 2020 and be aged 66 to get the coveted free travel and qualify for the state pension.

Not any more. Come this November, some 130,000 Londoners who have already turned 60 will get a new-style Oyster photocard – to be known as the 60+ concessionary travel scheme – which they will use until their Freedom Pass is due.

The estimated £20million cost of this concession in the first year will rise every year as more people become eligible.

And Bojo is swinging the cost on to Transport for London – not London Councils, which pays for the Freedom Pass. But I can get no assurance that this will remain the case.

The 60+ concession card will be valid 24/7 on all London bus, Tube, DLR and London Overground rail services. Negotiations on who pays for the scheme are still ongoing with the suburban rail companies. Unlike the

Popular tactics: Mayor Boris Johnson

Freedom Pass, it will not be valid on buses outside London.

By implementing his election pledges to always protect the Freedom Pass, avoid means-testing and keep it free to everyone at 60, Mr Johnson is in effect taking on all those politicians, media pundits and academics calling for cuts in pensioner entitlements.

I've heard suggestions that when he made those pledges, Bojo was not aware of the full implications and cost. It is not a view I share, for in a calculated and defiant statement, he said: "Tens of thousands of Londoners were quite rightly incensed by the age escalation affecting the Freedom Pass, which meant their right to free travel was rapidly disappearing over the horizon.

"The new Oyster card will yank this important concession back into place and means Londoners who have reached three score years of age will have their right to free travel in our great city reinstated."

I welcome Bojo's support for our "right to free travel" and if it enhances his political ambitions, so what?

I loved every minute of my Olympic experience

ON July 6 2005, the world was informed that in 2012 the 30th Olympiad had been awarded to city of London.

Sebastian Coe, the head of LOCOG (London Organising Committee Of the Olympic and Paralympic Games), announced that 70,000 volunteers would be sought to support the Games. The volunteers would be known as Games Makers and they would provide a variety of roles across all the venues from welcoming visitors to transporting athletes and officials.

Recruitment began in 2010 – 250,000 people applied and 100,000 interviewed before the final 70,000 were selected.

Training commenced in February this year and the Games Makers attended up to three sessions to make sure we were as prepared as possible.

Each Games Maker has given up at least 10 days to perform their tasks, each shift lasted 10 hours. They also attended a uniform fitting day where they received one pair of trainers, two pairs of socks, two pairs of trousers, two polo shirts, one waterproof jacket, one bag including water bottle and umbrella, one baseball cap and a special edition Swatch watch.

I was seconded to Earl's Court, which hosted the volleyball competition.

Wow! The energy and exuberance that emanated from Earl's Court for the Games was palpable. I hadn't chosen volleyball, I was like everyone else who was accepted as a Games Maker. I was sent an email telling me that if I chose to accept, I would be a Games Maker and my role would be based at Earl's Court. I was thrilled. I knew how many people had applied and here I was, granny Zinkin, doing my bit for the once-in-a-lifetime experience of London 2012.

The shifts commenced 6am at Earl's Court. The first train leaves from Arnos Grove at 5.19am and my husband Jeff got up every day to take me to the station. As I got out at Earl's Court, the pale light often suffused with a red glow for the coming day which enveloped me and I joined the red and purple caterpillar of uniformed bodies.

Walking ever taller as pride simply swelled and my eyes filled, I was so proud to be British and so proud to be part of a multicultural team, which is in fact a mirror image of this country. Personally, it is my belief that it is this diversity that has made these Games so successful.

Every day, I walked up to the check-in desk and a piece of paper was handed to me with a number and job on it. Find the number, join the busily chatting team and discover what your role was for the day.

I worked as a "glorified usherette" and loved every moment showing people to their seats and answering their many and various questions. I guarded doors from which no-one appeared and still answered a plethora of questions outside managing the queues of 15,000 people every day.

I was the hand of the pink finger and much photographed with smiling children and, yes, smiling adults too. I have spoken to people from many countries and will no doubt appear in many albums as the face of their Games experience and, yes, you've guessed it.

I loved every minute and so must have Jeff as each evening on my return I simply fell into bed at 9pm exhausted, exhilarated and happy.

Ann Zinkin
Councillor, Southgate Green Ward

'Walking ever taller as pride simply swelled and my eyes filled, I was so proud to be British and so proud to be part of a multicultural team. It is my belief that it is this diversity that has made these Games so successful'.

Councillor needs to check his facts over financial position...

IN response to Councillor Lavender's increasingly ridiculous column, is it really too much to ask him to check his facts before he descends into more absurd and misguided bluster (Advertiser, August 15)?

Let's be clear, Enfield Council is in a robust financial position despite the unprecedented and ongoing government funding cuts. Don't just take my word for it – Enfield Council received a very positive financial resilience review this summer from our external auditors, as Councillor Lavender well knows.

Thanks to our absolute commitment to providing residents with the best possible value for money, we continue to strive to provide better services for less money. As a result, we have made more than £46m of savings over the past two years while keeping the budget in balance and protecting front-line services.

As regards Councillor Lavender's misleading slant on cash flow – the council's cash position is categorically not at risk. At the moment, it is more beneficial for the council to use its internal cash balances to finance its capital expenditure programme as the cost of borrowing currently exceeds the income received on investments.

Indeed, the council has repaid £15m of loans this year through the use of cash balances for the same reason. We recognise the need to borrow later in the year in a planned and controlled way, but make no apologies for pursuing a treasury management strategy that minimises financial costs to the council taxpayer.

Councillor Lavender either fails to understand the financial position of Enfield Council or is attempting to wilfully mislead Enfield residents.

Councillor Andrew Stafford
Cabinet Member for Finance and Property

...and how does he see 'good news'

JUST as Michael Lavender was the only person in Britain to blame unemployed people for the G4S debacle at the Olympic Games by failing to recruit enough temporary staff (Advertiser, July 18), so he is now a loner in seeing good news in our flat as a pancake economy (Advertiser, August 15).

Will some kind Tory soul please tell their local leader that our GDP (gross domestic product) has registered its third consecutive decline in national output during Britain's longest double-dip recession on record?

Mr Lavender claims his government is now borrowing less than two years ago, when in fact the latest figures for May showed borrowing of £17.9 billion, nearly £3bn more than a year ago.

With inflation increasing at almost twice the pace of wages, tax receipts down and the present austerity measures scheduled to go on until 2020 at least, there's not much to look forward to from Mr Lavender's friends.

It makes me shudder to think he could be running the council in 2014.

FAMILY ANNOUNCEMENTS

Michael wheels out a new method to beat Parkinson's

By Kim Inam

A RETIRED competitive cyclist has put himself back in the saddle two years after being diagnosed with Parkinson's disease.

Michael Peatchey was inspired to get back on his bike after meeting David Greaves, the founder of Pedal for Parkinson's, as he carried the Olympic torch into Thirsk, in Yorkshire, earlier this summer.

The 60-year-old quit competitive long distance cycling 15 years ago, and then signed up to take part in a relay ride between John O'Groats and Land's End this summer to raise money for The Cure Parkinson's Trust. But after the fundraiser was cancelled because of logistics problems, Mr Peatchey, who owns an independent butcher's shop in Grange Park, decided to complete his own challenge, cycling instead from Land's End to his shop.

Mr Peatchey told the Advertiser: "When I was competing, I was at club championship level and I held a 12-hour time trial record for a few years. It's been nice coming back to it. It has helped with the Parkinson's – I don't notice the tremors when I'm on the bike because your mind is on something else."

"I'm also not affected when I'm working. Many of my customers didn't realise I had Parkinson's until I started fundraising for this."

'I don't notice the tremors when I am on the bike.'

was confirmed at the National Hospital for Neurology and Neurosurgery, in Russell Square, in central London.

Mr Peatchey used to ride with the Finsbury Park Cycling Club and was sponsored by Condor Cycles, which now supports Olympic gold medallist and Tour de France winner Bradley Wiggins. For this ride Mr Peatchey is being backed by Le Peloton Cycles, based in Winchmore Hill.

Mr Peatchey has given his ride, which begins on Sunday, the title "Our Olympic Dream: We Will Find A Cure".

He added: "We have to look forward and hope for a cure. The son of one of my customers is 33 and has Parkinson's. We must remember that it affects young people as well."

Mr Peatchey aims to arrive at his shop, M Peatchey Purveyor of Fine Foods, in The Grangeway, at 6.45pm on Tuesday and has invited customers and supporters to an evening of celebrations.

To donate, visit uk.virginmoneygiving.com and search for Michael Peatchey's Cycle for a Cure

What a scorch!

MADCHESTER was the order of the day during a blisteringly hot V Festival at the weekend.

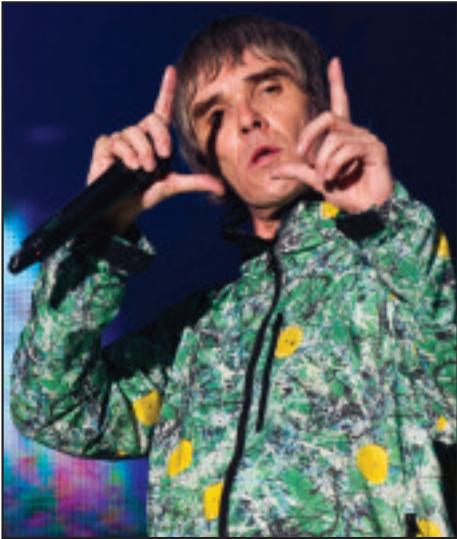

The Inspiral Carpets and The Charlatans solidly brought up the rear. However, the Happy Mondays' brief set left their easy-to-please audience feeling a tad short-changed.

Much better were The Stone Roses, almost at the end of their national comeback tour, who headlined on Saturday night.

The loyal hoards lapped up songs such as Love Spreads and I Am The Resurrection and were happy to see John Squire turn many of their hits into epics – finishing up with a group hug, which prompted a roar of approval from a vast army of sunburnt Essex girls and boys.

Away from the baggy scene, the ubiquitous Emeli Sandé was predictably brilliant, while Madness, another act to have been rolled out ad infinitum this year, strutted their stuff with the help of X Factor contestant and local lad Olly Murs.

Sound problems dogged a few of the acts – Shaun Ryder's voice was swallowed by the rest of the Happy Mondays as they performed on the Arena stage and Ed Sheeran suf-

Eden moves to New York

AFTER a hugely successful first show of 2012, The Finchley, Friern and Barnet Operatic Society is returning to the stage with a new production of Children Of Eden.

The musical, which tells the story of Adam and Eve, Cain and Abel and Noah and the flood, will be at the Wylyotts Theatre in Potters Bar next month.

It has been given a new twist by FFBO, who have set the action in modern-day New York, with the everyday folk of the Big Apple, including police officers, prostitutes or hobos, telling the story.

The show, which has developed a cult following over the years, was created by Stephen Schwartz, the man responsible for West End hit Wicked.

Amateur dramatic society FFBO is currently celebrating its 90th anniversary and Children Of Eden is the second show of the year – after the Sound Of Music was staged at the Millfield Arts Centre, in Silver Street, Edmonton, earlier in 2012.

Children Of Eden will be at the Wylyotts from September 4 to 8. Performances will be at 7.45pm, plus a Saturday matinee.

To book tickets, go to www.ticketsource.co.uk/ffbos or call 020 8482 6923. Tickets are £14, £12 and £10.

Ambitious young chefs take fine dining to the next level

Restaurant News

WITH its team of creative young chefs desperate to impress, Hendon Hall Hotel should be a destination of choice for north London's foodies.

Set in the grounds of the stunning, 16th-century building in Ashley Lane, Hendon, the hotel offers a special menu – the market menu – which changes daily, for those keen to try out the chefs' latest culinary ideas.

The hotel's food and beverage manager Guy Kaye said the up-and-coming chefs are encouraged to put all their ideas into the menu.

"When they experiment, they get results," he said. "That was how our head chef Richard Walker got where he is."

Offering dishes such as duck breast with mushroom ravioli, pickled turnips and fondant potato and pan-fried sea trout with courgette purée, with new potatoes and spring onions, the market menu is a chance to try some cutting-edge cooking and is a snip at £23 for two courses and £28 for three.

The slightly more conventional Garrick menu also offers some unconventional dining options such as beetroot panna cotta and tarte tatin made from banana shallots, wild mushrooms and Jerusalem artichokes.

Richard explained: "Our customers don't want to be too far from their comfort zone and I'm trying to make it a destination for people to eat – we want people to come out of choice."

"We are also offering a six-course taster menu. We are doing that about once every three months and those have proved really popular."

"There we can go a bit more complex with our food – they work really well."

"Now there are lots of TV shows about food, people are a bit more aware of what they are ordering."

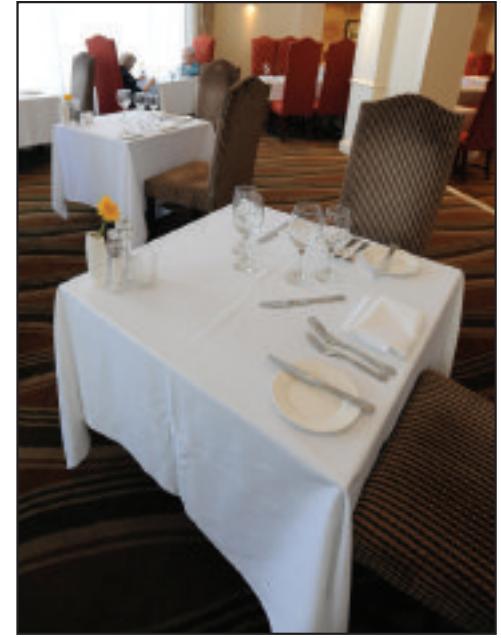

As well as fine dining,

Hendon Hall Hotel offers afternoon teas.

"These are getting more and more popular," added Richard.

"We had 75 bookings for Mother's Day, and if the weather is nice we can open up the garden and people can eat out there."

In rehearsal: Young cast members preparing for their interpretation of The Tempest

Children put their slant on the Bard

YOUNG actors from Haringey Shed will perform a new version of The Tempest in the grounds of Shakespeare's daughter's house in Stratford-upon-Avon on Monday.

The show, which makes its debut at the Bernie Grant Arts Centre, in Town Hall Approach Road, Tottenham, on Saturday, is the Shed's own work, based on the Shakespeare play and created by members of the theatre group.

More than 100 children have worked on devising an original piece of musical theatre with support from the Haringey Shed's team of professional writers, directors and musicians.

NewBuy Launched at Vision, Enfield!

Lanes New Homes recently launched Vision, Enfield, an exciting new gated development of just eight private 3 and 4 bedroom homes, located in a cherry tree lined road, by renowned developer Beverley Homes.

House hunters keen to snap up a stylish new home can now take advantage of the NewBuy Scheme, backed by the Government which means buyers only need to put down a 5% deposit to buy their dream home. The scheme is available to both existing home owners and first time buyers.

Vision is located off Crest Drive, Enfield, in a location that couldn't be more convenient for easy road and rail travel. The A10 and in turn M25 is under a mile away and Turkey Street station is just a short walk away and connects London Liverpool Street with a journey time of 30 minutes.

Enfield is a popular North London suburb with an excellent selection of restaurants, cafes and shops including the newly refurbished Palace Gardens at Enfield Town.

The area provides well for families with a good selection of both primary and secondary schools. There is also a good selection of leisure pursuits including Albany Leisure Centre, David Lloyd Club, Cineworld and Southbury Leisure Park plus a wealth of open spaces including Albany Park. Vision offers exclusively designed three and four bedroom homes that been carefully designed offering fully appliance styled kitchens with ceramic tiled flooring through to beautifully fitted bathrooms all set behind remote controlled gates adding a feeling of security and exclusivity and all benefiting from allocated parking.

Peter Cunningham, Group Sales Director of Lanes New Homes comments "In recent years buyers have found it difficult getting onto the property ladder but with NewBuy the tide has now turned. With just a 5% deposit, equating to £15,498, it now makes buying a home much easier and this is the first development in Enfield to offer this exceptional opportunity."

Prices start from £279,950 but hurry as the 1st phase has already been reserved! Why not visit the show home which is open Thursday - Monday 10am - 5pm or call Lanes New Homes for further information and to arrange an appointment to view on 020 8370 3999 www.lanesnewhomes.co.uk

Small-sized Audi A1 makes a big impact

By Matt Joy

IT HAD to happen sometime. The call finally came for the comfortable and tough Audi Q5 to return home, and so it needed to be replaced with something different.

It just so happened that the call came at the same time as the A1 Sportback appeared in the UK. And the chance to run around in one for six months raised an obvious question: in this era of belt-tightening and downsizing, can you really switch from an SUV to a supermini?

My plans to pamper the A1 from the day it arrived were quickly destroyed. The need to travel to various parts of the country, cope with the shopping and even handle my two young kids on a weekend away meant the A1 simply had to get on with it.

Despite being around half the size of the mid-sized SUV, the A1 did a fine job of carrying me, two boys in car seats and all of the gear. Sure, the boot was stuffed to the gills and I had to use the footwells a little, but the fact you can utilise all of its footprint is a real bonus.

Having become fed up of paying through the nose for diesel, the A1 had to be a petrol, particularly as Audi is one of those firms at the forefront of the petrol renaissance.

This particular Sportback runs the 1.4-litre TFSI with 122PS (120bhp in old money) hitched up to the seven-speed S tronic transmission.

The even more impressive 1.4 turbo with cylinder deactivation isn't available yet, but this version has more poke than the 1.2 TFSI and with a 0-62mph time of nine seconds flat it qualifies as a warm hatch in my book. Yet it clocks up an official 53.3mpg combined and just 122g/km of CO₂.

You have to drive it appropriately to get those figures, but to be honest I've not yet managed to go with the performance. You can restrain myself. The trouble is it feels far too sporty to be driven like an eco-special. With the S tronic box you can keep both hands on the wheel, and although it's turbocharged you do need to rev it a little to get maximum performance – hence not yet doing 50 miles per gallon.

This wasn't helped by the fact it went to visit its glamorous big brother, the R8 GT Spyder.

They share more than just a body colour too: I'm not going to tell you the A1 is the perfect substitute for a £130,000 supercar, but it is huge fun on a back road chiefly because it is small, relatively light and responsive.

The Sport trim brings with it stiffer suspension and although you might suffer because of potholes, the trade-off is well worth it.

The A1 Sportback can look like a junior hot hatch too. Upgrade to one of the pretty 17-inch wheels designs for around £500 and you have looks to go with the performance. You can even add a rear spoiler and a modest body kit for a few pounds more.

It might be small but you still get all the big Audi stuff in the A1.

The cabin is a quality piece of work and depending on how much you decide to spend it can have all the bells and whistles. Yet it doesn't suffer from a rash of buttons and instead has an minimalist dashboard that feels expensive, and little details like the screen that simply folds away by clicking it into place show some real thought.

It's been a busy month but the A1 Sportback has dived right in and got on with the job. Next month I promise to stop driving it flat out all the time to give it a chance of making the right fuel economy.

Before you blame your car for not making the combined figure, take a look at yourself first.

Facts at a glance

- Model: Audi A1 Sportback 1.4 TFSI Sport, £17,680 list, £20,085 as tested

- Engine: 1.4-litre petrol producing 120bhp and 147lb ft of torque

- Transmission: even-speed dual clutch gearbox driving the front wheels

- Performance: Top speed 126mph, 0-62mph in 9.0 seconds

- Economy: 53.3mpg combined (official), 36.29mpg average in month one

A-FORD-ABLE MOTORING - LAUNCH OF NEW '62' PLATES RESULTS IN DISCOUNTS ON THE FORECOURT

Buying a brand new Ford has never been easier and more affordable with the launch of the new '62' plate on 1st September. Buying a vehicle with new plates is a fantastic investment for the future and results in some great deals on the forecourt.

And to make this proposition even more attractive local Ford dealer Dagenham Motors will be running a Double Discount event throughout August. The famous 'New Car 62 Plate Double Discount Event' is one of the biggest automotive sales events of the year, and runs for the general public from Friday 10th August.

Motorists will be able to benefit from exceptional finance packages which ensure that there has been no better time to buy a brand new Ford.

Speaking of the new '62' plate launch, Paul Canning, Regional Manager at Dagenham Motors explained: "We are delighted to be able to offer the Double Discount Event to coincide with the launch of the new '62' plate and encourage motorists looking to take advantage of the great deals on offer to visit their local Dagenham Motors dealership. We have a fantastic range of fuel frugal vehicles on offer that help motorists save money in these harsh economic times."

Motorists looking to take advantage of the savings on '62' plate Fords are encouraged to contact Dagenham Motors now. Please visit your local Dagenham Motors at:

CONDITIONS OF ACCEPTANCE FOR ALL ADVERTISEMENTS

Orders are accepted by the Publishers subject to the Standard Conditions agreed between the Newspaper Society and the Institute of Practitioners in Advertising. Save that:

1. Advertisements are accepted on the conditions that (a) descriptions relating to goods are accurate and in no way contravene the provisions of the Trade Descriptions Act 1968, and the Fair Trading Act 1973, and (b) the copy complies with the British Code of Advertising Practice. Advertisements offering credit or hire facilities must conform to the Consumer Credit (Advertisements) Regulations 1980.

2. 'Classified' Advertisers offering goods or service of a business, commercial or trade nature will, at the discretion of the Publishers, be deemed 'Trade Advertisers', and as such, must include their names in advertisements. A telephone number is an optional addition to these requirements and not alternative.

To comply with the Business Advertisements (Disclosure) Order 1977, Trade Advertisers must make it clear that they are selling goods in the course of business either by content, format, size or place of the advertisement or by including words such as 'trade', 'dealer', 'agent', 'wholesaler', '(T)' etc. in the advertisement.

3. The Publishers accept no liability whatsoever for any loss or damage however caused arising out of:

(a) Any error, inaccuracy or omission in the printing or publishing of any advertisement;

(b) Any failure to publish an advertisement on the day / date or / days specified by the advertiser; or

(c) Any delay in forwarding or omission to forward replies to box numbers to the Advertiser.

4. The Publishers will endeavour to publish advertisements on the day / date or day / dates specified by the Advertiser but insertion days / dates cannot be guaranteed.

5. Where shrinkage of advertisement occurs for whatever reasons the advertisement will be charged to the nearest full centimetre. This will NOT apply to the full-page advertisements, which remain full pages even after shrinkage.

6. The Publishers reserve the right to reject an advertisement or to vary it in any way they deem fit, at any time before publication, whether or not the advertisement has already been accepted for publication.

7. Whilst every effort is made to minimise errors in advertisements, mistakes do sometimes occur. Advertisers or their agents should therefore check their advertisements and inform us of any errors immediately. Responsibility cannot be accepted for more than one incorrect insertion. Typographical or minor changes, which do not affect the value of the advertisement, do not qualify for republication or allowances.

8. All gross advertising rates (except classified lineage and semi-display) are subject to and include a 0.1% Advertising Standards Board of Finance surcharge, payable by the advertisers to help finance the self-regulatory control system administered by the Advertising Standards Authority.

9. All rates quoted are subject to VAT at the rate currently in force at the time the advertisement appears.

10. Should the rate for advertisements be altered for remaining insertions shall be revised accordingly or the publishers shall have the right to cancel the unexpired portion of the order. 11. The placing of an advertisement order will be deemed an acceptance of these conditions.

12. Account facilities are granted at the discretion of the Company. 13. All accounts must be settled within the terms agreed by the Company and the Customer.

(1) Should an advertiser be in breach of the agreed terms, the publisher shall be entitled to levy a 10% surcharge on the value of the whole debt in respect of accounts with terms of less than 30 days, and any discounts or commissions that had been allowed will be reclaimed.

(2) Regular monthly accounts that are in breach of the agreed terms will pay an interest rate of 6% above the current bank of England base rate for each month that the account is overdue and discounts or commissions that had been allowed will be reclaimed. Should Legal action be required the interest will be charged in accordance with the County Court Act 1984.

14. Where an advertiser instructs / appoints an advertising agent to act on their behalf, the advertiser will remain jointly and severally liable for payment in respect of an advertisement(s) should the appointed agent fail to pay. For the avoidance of doubt, the agent acts for the advertiser and not for the publisher with the agent being responsible for notifying the advertiser of this liability.

15. All queries must be notified, preferably in writing to the accounts department of the publisher within 7 days of the invoice date.

16. All digital services are maintained in partnership with the publishers' hosting service providers. Every effort is made to ensure the continuity of these services, but some occasional technical downtime beyond the publishers control may occur. The publisher and its associated companies shall be under no liability if the production and distribution of web services is delayed or prevented by any cause beyond the control of the publisher.

17. The Publisher may provide voucher copies for published advertisements in electronic form only subject to certain criteria. Further information is available on request.

18. The copyright of advertisements produced wholly or partially by the Publishers belong to the Publishers. Advertisers may not reproduce such advertisements without the Publishers' consent.

Box Numbers

Boxes are open for the receipt of bona fide answers and are not available for distribution of trade canvassing matter. Original testimonials, goods, cash, cash stamps or payments of any kind must not be enclosed. A Box Number and postal address are charged as part of the advertisement, i.e. Box No., centre address. There is no charge for forwarding replies.

Box numbers alone are not available for use in 'Trade' advertisements, other than Employment and Business Opportunities.

Holiday & Travel Category

All advertising must contain the name of the advertiser, phone number alone are not permitted.

Data Protection

The service you have requested may require us to carry out a credit search at a credit-referencing agency, which will record the fact that a search has been made. We may need to share your information with other lenders and credit reference agencies. However, we will only use the information from these searches to make credit-granting decisions and, if necessary, for fraud prevention or tracing debtors.

Data controller will use your information for administration and analysis. We may share your information with other Tindle Group Newspaper companies or carefully selected third parties. We, or they, may send you details of other goods and services, which may be of interest to you. The information may be provided by letter, telephone or other reasonable means of communication. Calls may be recorded or monitored for training purposes.

Special conditions apply with regard to the advertising of adult services, which are outlined to all persons submitting such advertisements.

Win gives big boost to promotion hopes

NORTH MIDDLESEX closed to within eight points of the promotion places in Division Two of the Middlesex County Cricket League heading into the final three weeks of the season following Saturday's three-wicket win at Brentford.

Evan Flowers was the star performer for the visitors, taking 4-47 as Brentford were dismissed for 214 batting first, before top-scoring with 68 during North Middlesex's reply of 215-7.

Meanwhile, Hornsey continued their impressive run of form in the top flight by securing a winning draw at table-topping Winchmore Hill.

Michael Phillipson made 55 and Martin Tucker contributed a crucial 50 as Hornsey amassed 258 batting first, and an unbeaten century from David Alleyne (110 not out) was only good enough for the hosts to pick up a point for their efforts as they reached 226-4 when bad light halted the action.

And North London still have genuine hopes of promotion from Division Three after recording an 89-run win at home to Edmonton which saw them climb up into third place in the table.

Ben Hocking (61) and Jack Godfrey-Wood (53) helped North London to reach 276-9 batting first, before Peter Nonar took 4-34 as Edmonton were bowled out for 187.

But Highgate had to settle for a losing draw from their trip to South Hampstead, being dismissed for 235 and then seeing their hosts reply with 197-8.

Hornsey host Finchley on Saturday, while North Middlesex entertain Harrow, North London go to Indian Gymkhana and Highgate are at home to Harrow St Mary's.

Delight as athletes seal top flight spot

THE senior men's team at Enfield and Haringey Athletic Club secured promotion to the Premier Division of the United Kingdom Athletics League in fine style on Saturday by winning the final meeting of the season at Eton to be crowned champions of Division One.

A superb all-round team performance saw them finish more than 40 points clear of host outfit Windsor, Slough and Eton on the day, meaning that they will now take their place among the elite eight clubs in the country next year.

Ben Sumner was named athlete of the match after winning the 400metres hurdles (50.36seconds) and the 400m (47.75secs), while Ben Nagy (9minutes 14.02secs) and Shaun Collins (9mins 35.08secs) won the A and B-string 3,000m steeplechase.

Luke Fagan triumphed in the A-string 200m (20.60secs) and B-string 100m (10.45secs), and there was further success in the sprints as world junior 100m finalist Chijindu Ujah won the A-string 100m in 10.31secs.

The duo then teamed up with Romaine Harris and Kyron Williams to destroy the opposition in the 4x100m relay as they set a new league record of 40.93secs.

There were A-string victories in the field events from Bonnie Buwembo in the javelin, Rhys Sears in the pole vault, Scott Lincoln in the shot and Chris Kandu in the high jump.

□ Enfield and Haringey Athletic Club are always on the lookout for new members, and anyone interested in joining should contact Malcolm Blackmore on 07939 924667.

OPENING DAY LOSS

By Dominique Stafford

ANDRE VILLAS-BOAS insists that Tottenham Hotspur were unlucky to end up empty-handed after they began their Premier League campaign with a 2-1 defeat at Newcastle United.

Jermain Defoe and Gareth Bale both struck the woodwork in the first half, but a superb effort from Demba Ba put Newcastle ahead in the 55th minute.

Defoe got Tottenham back on level terms with 14 minutes remaining, only for Hatem Ben Arfa to score a penalty soon after to give all three points to the hosts.

But new boss Villas-Boas was pleased with what he saw from his side, and believes that they deserved some reward for their efforts.

"I think that we were the better team throughout the 90 minutes," he said. "The boys deserved to get something out of this game."

"We created good opportunities in the first half, and in the second half we had the momentum of the game on our side, but let it slip for the split-second of the penalty and, with the clock ticking down, it was difficult to get back."

"We have to take the positives from this game. To come to Newcastle on the first day of the season and have a performance like that means we are on the right track, so our focus will be back on training this week and improving on the things we did poorly."

"If we do that, I'm sure we'll give our fans some satisfaction from our first home game."

Meanwhile, Villas-Boas is adamant that Defoe will not be leaving White Hart Lane before the end of the transfer window.

Despite being the only senior striker currently on Spurs' books, Defoe has been linked with a move away from the club – with Aston Villa and Stoke City both reportedly interested in signing the player – but the head coach has confirmed that the England international is a big part of his plans.

Villas-Boas added: "He is our striker, is playing extremely well, is full of confidence and has been deadly in front of goal.

"He is showing that touch that we need up front. Jermain accepts that we are looking for one more striker because the team is in need of that, but when we have them all together the quality of the player is tremendous."

"He always has this killer instinct. He scored in midweek for his country, scored for us during pre-season and again at Newcastle."
